Project Title: Eleframes

Rosse and Gazment, along with teammates Caleb Gates and Ashlesha Dhuri, were awarded funding to refine their invention of a photograph display kit of their own design. Starting with an idea and a basic prototype, they sourced materials, designed the packaging, built a website, and prepared to scale up production.

They have since been awarded additional funding from the UConn Innovation Quest program and the CCEI Summer Fellowship program to build their business.

Eleframes photograph display kits are currently available in stores around Connecticut and online at www.eleframes.com.
